IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER

City of Beloit Has Levels of Total Trihalomethanes (TTHM) Above Drinking Water Standards

Our water system recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers you have a right to know what happened, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct this situation.

When disinfection (such as the use of chlorine) is used in the treatment of drinking water, disinfectants combine with organic and inorganic matter present in water to form compounds called disinfection byproducts (DBP). EPA sets standards for controlling the levels of DBP in drinking water, including Total Trihalomethanes (TTHM). Compliance is based on the four-quarter average of sample results for each location where TTHM samples are collected, called a locational running annual average (LRAA). The TTHM standard for any one LRAA is 80 ug/L. Results for samples we collected for the 3Q2025 show that our system exceeds the standard or maximum contaminant level (MCL) for TTHM. For 3Q2025, one of the LRAAs where TTHM samples are collected was 100 ug/L and another LRAA where TTHM samples are collected was 96 ug/L.

What should I do?

You do not need to use an alternative (e.g., bottled) water supply. However, if you have specific health concerns, consult your doctor.

What does this mean?

This is not an immediate risk. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. However, some people who drink water containing Trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

What happened? What is being done?

Trihalomethanes are compounds formed by Chlorine reacting with certain organic compounds in the water. We are working with Engineers to resolve this issue. As stated, this is not an immediate risk to your health. We will continue to work on this issue until resolved. Kansas Dept. of Health and Environment is reviewing our correction method for this issue.

We anticipate resolving the problem with engineering support and continued testing.
