Conversations that Matter:
Hospice and Advanced Directives

Do you have questions about advanced directives or what hospice care provides? The River Valley Extension District, Meadowlark Hospice, and Clay County Medical Center are providing a program, "Dish It Out: Conversations that Matter" in Clay Center. Amy Burr, Director of Meadowlark Hospice, will be presenting. This educational program aims to provide answers to questions about hospice such as how it works, how it is paid for, and how you get started. It will also provide education on the importance of advanced directives and having critical conversations with loved ones.

The program will be presented by Meadowlark Hospice Director, Amy Burr. The program will be held on Thursday, April 10th, at 6:00 p.m. at the Clay Center Event Center, 213 S 12th Street.

Attendance is free with Clay County Medical Center and Meadowlark Hospice providing participants with a meal, but registration is required to ensure adequate materials and seating. Contact the River Valley Extension District - Clay Center Office at 785-632-5335 to register.

Letting Go of Worry

Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. — Philippians 4:6

When I was younger, I was often consumed by worry. Whether it had to do with school, relationships, or the future, my mind was constantly racing with anxiety.

When I was preparing for an important exam, the stress would be overwhelming, and I couldn't sleep or focus. But one evening a trusted friend reminded me of Philippians 4:6-7. This encouraged me to turn my worries into prayers and to trust that God would take care of the rest.

Worry can easily become a burden that weighs us down, affecting our health, relationships, and well-being. It can steal our joy and keep us from fully experiencing the present.

When we present our worries to God, we acknowledge that he is in control and that we trust him with our lives. This act of surrender allows us to experience his peace, which goes beyond human understanding. God's peace guards our hearts and minds, protecting us from the harmful effects of anxiety.

Letting go of worry is not always easy. It requires a conscious effort to shift our focus from our problems to God's promises. It means choosing to trust that God is bigger than any situation we face. From my experiences I can say that every time I have chosen to trust God instead of worrying, he has provided for me in ways I did not imagine.
