for relief from or reconsideration of the court’s order.

• Conceded it did not appear for a hearing on May 7, 2025.

• Conceded it had not challenged any journal entry assessing delays to the state. A child in need of care

(CINC) file was originated in Harper County and then transferred to Montgomery County in October, 2024, but the file was requested prior to that. The state requested on continuance of the jury trial on Dec. 30, 2024. The state requested “more time” to obtain the CINC file on four separate occasions beginning on Jan. 22. The state finally “announced receipt of (the) CINC file” on April 21. The court was unable to set a reschedule jury trial on May 7 due to the state’s representative missing the hearing. A new date was set on May 19, but a hearing to dismiss the case was also filed on that date with the dismissal occurring on June 6.

With the ruling of dismissal with prejudice it means the Randleman can not be charged and tried again with the same crimes alleged in this specific case.

The county attorney’s office has been under scrutiny from law enforcement officials, the county commission and concerned citizens for several months.

food and delivery costs and ensure no interruption in service for seniors.

“We are incredibly grateful to KDADS for stepping in with this emergency support,” said SCKAAA Executive Director Jodi Whitmore in the KDADS news release. “Our top priority is the seniors we serve and this funding ensures they will continue to receive the meals they count on every day.”

According to a KWCH-TV story, Everfull Executive Director Charles Johnston said the decision was surprising. He told KWCH-TV that Everfull noticed in March it was going beyond its budget and reached out to SCKAA about the possibility of a contract negotiation to bridge the income gap.

Per a story in the Eureka Herald, Everfull had distributed a letter to its employees back in May about funding shortfalls that could disrupt service as of July 1.

In a letter dated June 4, which Whitmore emailed to The Harper Advocate, SCKAAA stated it was aware of those financial issues.

“We deeply value the essential role Everfull plays in delivering meals and support to seniors in our region,” the letter stated.

“These services are a critical lifeline for many, and disruption in these services can have serious consequences. SCKAAA remains committed to doing everything within our capacity to help ensure that these important services continue without interruption.”
