Scott Cooperative Association Grain Originator

Scott Cooperative is currently accepting applications for a Grain Originator in Scott City, KS. A successful candidate should display excellent customer service skills and work well with others while having a willingness to continuously learn.

Duties

Duties of this position include being responsible for developing and maintaining strong relationships with grain producers in Scott Coop's territory as well as originating grain through direct producer contact which includes farm visits, phone calls, and producer meetings along with educating producers on available marketing tools, contracts, and risk management strategies. Negotiating and executing grain purchase contracts with the producers as well as monitoring local/regional/global market factors that influence grain prices and costs of production in addition to maintaining accurate and timely records of all grain commitment and contracts are also essential duties of this position. This individual would also be responsible for participating in cooperative events and marketing programs, representing the coop at community and industry functions, recording and paying out farm grain in a timely fashion, resolving customer complaints involving the grain department settlements, together with being responsible for contract agreements and deliver completion, assisting the grain merchandiser and accountant in daily activities in their absence, and assisting in hedging in relation to grain marketing. Lastly, this individual should exhibit sufficient computer technology skills, and perform other duties as assigned.

Qualifications

To perform this job successfully an individual must be able to perform each essential duty satisfactorily. College degree preferred in related field and 2 years of grain industry experience essential. Knowledge of grain marketing practices, terminology and futures markets is favorable. Strong relationship-building and communications skills (both verbal and written) are required.

Reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions.

Company Overview

Scott Cooperative specializes in grain handling and marketing, agronomy services including fertilizer, chemical, seed as well as feed and petroleum. The cooperative has branches located in Scott City, Marienthal, Shallow Water, Grigston, Manning, Modoc, Pence, and Selkirk, Kansas.
