So...my sister is a doctor. She is an incredible doctor,... very knowledgeable, empathetic, and not one to put up with your guff...she will shoot you straight when it comes to treatments and your responsibilities to your own health.

Yeah...I don't doctor with her. People I know are amazed that I don't...can't understand why I wouldn't want something as personal as my health to be in the hands of someone that knows me as well as she does...someone who truly cares about me being around for the future of our shared families.

Well...there in lies the problem. As my sister...and my doctor...I would have to listen to her...and my health choices would no longer be my own. As her older brother, I pride myself in being turned to for advice or solving a problem within my scope. Her family depends on the strength of their mighty Uncle Myron and the qualities he has to offer. My health should be their concern, but not their problem.

I enjoy the doctor I currently see...mainly because as a cantankerous older person, I set the rules for my care. Sure...he offers advice in regard to weight control, smoking, and (thanks to my diagnosis as being diabetic) sweets intake. Honestly...he should have never used the phrase, "anything in moderation." People like me tend to abuse that phrase and make changes at first, but moderation means I drink one less pop a day than I used to and only eat sweets in my office...in moderation of course.

Here's the thing...your labs don't lie...so when your labs indicate that you just consumed a pack of chocolate donuts, a pastry, and half a quart of whole milk...moderation is not something someone like me can be left in charge of. I made the mistake of telling my sister of my recent labs and my visit with my doctor...and guess what...yep...I got that look...that look that scares me...that look that needs no words.

And no doctor...I am a city boy after all...I did not know that whole milk is what they use to fatten calves. Pretty sure that was his way of telling me that I was fat...in a round about way...notice that I used the word round...coincidence?...I think not.

So...moderation is no longer in my vocabulary. I have begun to work out again...of my own volition...and for selfish reasons actually. It's not about looking good...nor does it have anything to do with my health...I just want my golf swing back that I had several years ago. But I am also watching my intake because weight loss has become one of my goals...and no more of that calf fattening whole milk...which I drank every morning by the way. I only drink pop twice a week...as a reward...and a big step from my several pops a day habit.

Do I feel better?...of course I do. It is a sense of pride report to the doctor...you know, the one that I did not want to answer to...my sister...about my progress. My clothes fit better...it is sure nice to have my shoulders and my chest back...and it will be awesome to be able to step up to that tee box and have something to offer this season...just sayin.

In all seriousness though...your health is yours to own. You can agree with or disagree with your doctor's advice (or your sister's), but they aren't there to guide you down a path of torture because it makes them feel good. It's your choice to be there for those who depend upon you...and your health is more than just their concern...it is their shared problem. Sometimes you just need to get out of your own wav.

Dear Editor,

The Western Vista Building Committee would like to respond to a recent letter in the Oakey Graphic and to anyone who has been misinformed or is spreading misinformation.

First, some history of how this building plan began. Over 20 county residents representing organizations such as the City of Oakley, Logan County Fair Board, USO #274, Logan County Commission and Logan County Community Foundation formed a committee.

Plans for such a facility and funding were discussed. They halted discussions when they determined they felt they could not obtain the necessary funding. A smaller group started meeting several months later and brought the idea back to life. An architect with a much lower bid and a funding plan put into place made this building a reality.

Now to address the accusation that the public has not been informed of the plan to build a community building and the plan for Logan County to take control of the building once the debt has been paid in full.

All minutes of Logan County Commissioner meetings are presented to the board as "unofficial" minutes. The board then approves the minutes to become "official" minutes. This includes past boards and present boards. You will find these official minutes on the Logan County website. They are also submitted to the Oakley Graphic but are not always printed in the newspaper. This is a decision of the newspaper whether to print them in their paper or not.

Commissioner Proceedings - October 4, 2022

Matt Engel, Misty Mildenberger and Josh Lowrie with the Community Building Committee met with the Board to answer any questions they had regarding the proposed Community Building project and give an updated drawing of the building. It was moved and seconded by Commissioners Hubert and Younkin to pledge an additional $300,000 on top of the original pledge for a new Community Building. Motion carried 3-0. The breakdown would be $600,000 from the Oil & Gas Depletion Fund, $300,000 from the Capital Improvement Fund and $300,000 from the Equipment Reserve Fund.

(For public information this left the following balances once these amounts were taken out: Oil and Gas Depletion Fund: $984,000, Capital Improvement Fund: $890,000, Equipment Reserve Fund: $1,700,000) (Also, for public information - the balances currently in these funds as of September 11, 2026, are as follows: Oil and Gas Depletion Fund: $1,050,868, Capital Improvement Fund: $1,691,984, Equipment Reserve Fund: $433,574)

(Since that date the County Commission has purchased an Ambulance for $240,000, Sheriff vehicle for $40,000, Road grader for $345,000 and a road packer for $72,000. It has also come to my attention that the current County Commission is funding the Equipment Reserve differently and not as many funds are going to this account as previously)

Commissioner Proceedings - May 20, 2024

Lori Sporer, Pat Gladin, Josh Lowry and Matt Engle met with the Board to give an update on the new Western Vista Complex. They estimated that the project should be completed mid-August to September. The group stated they have raised 3.7 million and need to raise another $350,000 to $450,000 to complete the project. Discussion was then held regarding the final ownership of the building once completed. It was moved and seconded by Commissioners Hubert and Younkin that Logan County execute an agreement to complete a purchase contract with Western Vista Byway Committee (WVBC) non-profit to purchase the Western Vista Building Complex for the amount of $1.00 with a closing date of May 9, 2028, or a date sooner if the building debt is paid in full. Motion carried 3-0.

(The County Attorney stated at that time there is no need to execute and sign the contract until the time of the transaction to sell the building to the County)

Commissioner Proceedings - July 15, 2024

Commissioner Hubert started discussion regarding Community Building Funding. Hubert stated that since the estimated cost of the special event hall/4-H building is 1.647 million, he was making a motion that we allocate an additional $200,000 from the Capital Improvement Fund to help minimize the remaining expense on the building. Hubert then stated this money is not allocated for the gymnasium, wrestling room nor locker rooms.

Commissioner Younkin seconded the motion. Motion carried 2-1 with Edwards voting against the motion.

Kansas State Fair Reminds Guests: Only Service Animals Permitted During Annual Fair

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — The Kansas State Fair has recently adopted updated animal control requirements clarifying that only service animals are permitted on the Kansas State Fairgrounds during the annual Kansas State Fair. The policy is designed to enhance the safety and well-being of Fair guests, exhibitors, vendors, employees, volunteers, event participants, and livestock during the TEN MOST FAIRIFIED DAYS in Kansas.

Service animals are permitted in accordance with applicable federal and state law. Pets, comfort animals, emotional support animals, and other animals that do not meet the legal definition of a service animal are not permitted on the Fairgrounds during the upcoming Kansas State Fair, September 11-20, 2026.

"Safety is our highest priority," said Bryan K. Schulz, General Manager of the Kansas State Fair. "With hundreds of thousands of guests, hundreds of exhibitors, valuable livestock, and a wide variety of activities taking place throughout the Fairgrounds, limiting animals during the Fair to legally recognized service animals is an important step in protecting both people and animals. We know pets are an important part of many families, but the size and complexity of the State Fair require clear and consistent rules that help keep everyone safe."

During the Kansas State Fair:

Only service animals are permitted on the Kansas State Fairgrounds.

Service animals must meet the applicable legal definition and must always remain under the control of their handler.

Pets, comfort animals, emotional support animals, therapy animals, and other animals that do not qualify as service animals are not permitted.

Service animals may be excluded from certain areas when their presence would create a legitimate safety concern or otherwise be permitted by applicable law.

Handlers are responsible for the care, control, and cleanup associated with their service animals.

Animals participating as part of an officially approved Fair exhibit, competition, demonstration, performance, or other Fair activity may be permitted when specifically authorized by the Kansas State Fair.

The Kansas State Fair's animal restrictions during the 10-day annual Fair are separate from the Fairgrounds' year-round Dog Control Policy. During non-Fair activities, dogs on the Kansas State Fairgrounds must be properly restrained and under the physical control of their owner or handler unless specifically authorized for an approved activity.

The Fairgrounds' Dog Control Policy also reinforces the Kansas
